Christmas Tide 1917 was observed at St. Andrew's Parish in a manner worthy of the Festival of the Incarnation, although quietness and simplicity were noted as befitting a War Christmas.

The elaborate decorations of former years gave place to a modified scheme, and general approval was expressed in the artistic affect. The amount saved will be given from the Altar Guild for the work of The Red Cross. The attendance at both services on Christmas Day was good, and the notes of uplift and hope were evident.

The members of the Sunday School brought gifts for the Children at the Convalescent Home, thus making it as before on their part, a giving time. The Christmas Festival for the Children was held on Thursday afternoon, at which a large number of the parents and friends gathered to share the children's pleasure. After the singing of carols the rector announced that the Sunday School would show their patriotism and spirit of sacrifice in receiving presents of less value and dispensing with the candy of former years.

The money thus saved from the Christmas Fund would be sent to the starving children of the warring countries of Europe and everyone approved of this action.

Santa Claus then made the customary distribution of the gifts after which ice cream and cookies were served to everyone. All were pleased with the Festival, and it was felt that a worthy object lesson in service was given to a growing generation.

The rector takes this opportunity of expressing his thanks to those who contributed generously to the Christmas Fund, making it possible for him to remember all as in former years, and at the same time through the simpler Sunday School Festival to give a sum of twenty dollars to the children of Europe who are in such great need today.

My dear Miss Furber:-

I acknowledge receipt of invitation from the Rector, Wardens and Vestry of St. Andrew's Church, Wellesley, to be present at the social gathering commemorating the 25th Anniversary of the first service held in the church, and I congratulate the parish upon its years of great usefulness.

St. Andrew's Church has been a strong spiritual influence in the life of the community and has made steady progress in the work of up-building the Kingdom of God. I regret that other engagements will not permit me to be present. I send all good wishes to both rector and people. May you work together as in the past with unselfish devotion, moving on steadily to a higher level of religious life and duty.

Before I close I would suggest that one of the most encouraging events connected with St. Andrew's Church has been the establishing of the Sunday-school at Wellesley Hills. It expresses the fine missionary spirit of St. Andrew's. It is true in spiritual things that the more we give the more we have. This development of Church life in Wellesley is sure to add to the strength and power of the parish.

I cannot close without a mention of the rector's wife; his capable assistant.

Thanking you all, and regretting my inability to be present on the evening of December 1st, I remain

Yours sincerely,

Samuel C. Babcock

Collect of the Day

Celebrant Together we pray.

People O Lord, you have taught us that without love whatever we do is worth nothing: Send your Holy Spirit and pour into our hearts your greatest gift, which is love, the true bond of peace and of all virtue, without which whoever lives is accounted dead before you. Grant this for the sake of your only Son Jesus Christ, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.

First Lesson: Genesis 45:3-11, 15

Joseph said to his brothers, "I am Joseph. Is my father still alive?" But his brothers could not answer him, so dismayed were they at his presence. Then Joseph said to his brothers, "Come closer to me." And they came closer. He said, "I am your brother, Joseph, whom you sold into Egypt. And now do not be distressed, or angry with yourselves, because you sold me here; for God sent me before you to preserve life. For the famine has been in the land these two years; and there are five more years in which there will be neither plowing nor harvest. God sent me before you to preserve for you a remnant on earth, and to keep alive for you many survivors. So it was not you who sent me here, but God; he has made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house and ruler over all the land of Egypt. Hurry and go up to my father and say to him, 'Thus says your son Joseph, God has made me lord of all Egypt; come down to me, do not delay. You shall settle in the land of Goshen, and you shall be near me, you and your children and your children's children, as well as your flocks, your herds, and all that you have. I will provide for you there—since there are five more years of famine to come—so that you and your household, and all that you have, will not come to poverty.”

And he kissed all his brothers and wept upon them; and after that his brothers talked with him.

Reader The Word of the Lord.

People Thanks be to God.

Second Lesson: 1 Corinthians 15:35-38,42-50

Someone will ask, "How are the dead raised? With what kind of body do they come?" Fool! What you sow does not come to life unless it dies. And as for what you sow, you do not sow the body that is to be, but a bare seed, perhaps of wheat or of some other grain. But God gives it a body as he has chosen, and to each kind of seed its own body.

So it is with the resurrection of the dead. What is sown is perishable, what is raised is imperishable. It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power. It is sown a physical body, it is raised a spiritual body. If there is a physical body, there is also a spiritual body. Thus it is written,

"The first man, Adam, became a living being"; the last Adam became a life-giving spirit. But it is not the spiritual that is first, but the physical, and then the spiritual. The first man was from the earth, a man of dust; the second man is from heaven. As was the man of dust, so are those who are of the dust; and as is the man of heaven, so are those who are of heaven. Just as we have borne the image of the man of dust, we will also bear the image of the man of heaven.

What I am saying, brothers and sisters, is this: flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does the perishable inherit the imperishable.

Gradual Hymn 577 "God is Love, and where true love is"

Ubi Caritas

Gospel: Luke 6:27-38

Clergy The Holy Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, according to Luke.

People Glory to you, Lord Christ.

Jesus said, "I say to you that listen, Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you. If anyone strikes you on the cheek, offer the other also; and from anyone who takes away your coat do not withhold even your shirt. Give to everyone who begs from you; and if anyone takes away your goods, do not ask for them again. Do to others as you would have them do to you.

"If you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them. If you do good to those who do good to you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners do the same. If you lend to those from whom you hope to receive, what credit is that to you? Even sinners lend to sinners, to receive as much again. But love your enemies, do good, and lend, expecting nothing in return. Your reward will be great, and you will be children of the Most High; for he is kind to the ungrateful and the wicked. Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful.

"Do not judge, and you will not be judged; do not condemn, and you will not be condemned. Forgive, and you will be forgiven; give, and it will be given to you. A good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will be put into your lap; for the measure you give will be the measure you get back."

About the Readings

Genesis 45:3-11,15 Today's reading describes Joseph's revelation of his identity to his brothers. Joseph, who had recognized his brothers, had planted a silver cup in his youngest brother Benjamin's food bag (Benjamin was Rachel's other son). When the cup is conveniently "found," Joseph demands that the boy remain as a slave in Egypt. The brothers are filled with sadness because they know that if anything happens to Benjamin, the aged Jacob will certainly die of sorrow. Joseph is so overcome with emotion when he perceives the repentance of his brothers that he reveals to them that he is their long lost brother. He also explains that he knows that his enslavement in Egypt was God's way of ensuring their survival from the famine and thus also making sure that God's promises would be fulfilled.

Psalms 37:1-12,41-42 This psalm from the wisdom tradition (like the book of Proverbs) is directed toward teaching people how to lead their lives. From his age and experience (v. 25), the psalmist assures his audience that those who patiently trust in the Lord will soon see righteousness triumph and evil receive its retribution (vv. 10-11). The psalmist urges the righteous to take their eyes off of wicked people and to focus instead on the richness of their relationship with God. Three times he warns the righteous not to fret, for such anxiety can gnaw away their righteousness and leads to evil. The wicked assume that God is ineffective against their oppression of the lowly, but those who wait upon the Lord will inherit the land just as the people of Israel received the land of Canaan.

1 Corinthians 15:35-38,42-50 Resurrection is the great sign of transformation, the shape of which Paul expresses through contrasts. These are not mere opposites. Resurrection does not simply reverse our situation or restore something innate. It is an act of "new creation" (2 Corinthians 5:17). Paul makes clear that physical life, both Christ's and ours, is important. We bear the image of Adam and we will bear the image of Christ. The physical body is ours from Adam. We inherit his likeness, the image of the man of dust. The "last Adam," Christ, through his resurrection, has become "a life-giving spirit" (v. 45) for us.

Luke 6:27-38 Today's reading announces the basic guideline of the kingdom of God: love for all. This principle is applied specifically to the problems of persecution and of possessions. Luke later demonstrates the principle by the examples of Jesus (23:34) and of Stephen (Acts 7:60). The love called for goes beyond what is fair or right to what is good as expressed in the positive statement of the Golden Rule (6:31). The negative formulation of that rule ("Do not...") was common in Jewish, pagan and even Confucian writings. The positive form is very rare and much more difficult to observe. Love is offered not in hope of reward, but in response to God's own nature and our relationship with God, which will be our reward. As we respond to God and to others, so God in turn responds to us.

“Refreshing” the Parish Prayer List

Praying for our loved ones at times of need is a central part of our worship and church life. We would like to remind you that at the beginning of every season, we “refresh” the prayer list. We remove names of people for whom we have been asked to pray if we have not heard that you wish us to keep your loved one on the list for the next season. We are happy to keep people on the list for as long as they are in need of our prayers. However, our proactive approach helps prevent a buildup of people on the list after the need for our prayers for that person has passed. Thanks for your help with this.
